To the Democrats of the Sixth Senatorial District:

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for re-election for State Senator of this senatorial district, composed of Hopkins and Christian counties, as you know, I have served you in this capacity for one term and during two sittings of the legislature in which I had the honor to represent you, I, at all times supported such measures as I thought would be for the best interest of the people, not only of this district, but for the people of Kentucky as well. Upon that record I stand and to which I invite your careful consideration.

I feel highly honored by having the full membership of the Democratic Executive Committee of Hopkins county a few weeks hence, to call upon me in person to make this race, and am grateful to each of them for the confidence reposed in me.

It has been the impression among a great many democrats of this district that it has been the custom of the two counties in the past to alternate their democratic nominees for State Senator. But such has not been the case. Out of the last six democratic nominees for State Senator, Christian county has had four, and Hopkins county has had only two. Christian had the nominees in 1891, 1893, 1897 and 1905, while Hopkins county had the two in 1901 and 1909. So if I am nominated this time, Hopkins county will then have had only three out of seven of the senatorial nominees. Good feeling has always existed among the democrats in the two counties, does now and I want to see this good feeling continue. However, I believe a great majority of the democracy of Christian county will agree with me that it is only fair and right for Hopkins county to have the senator this time and many of them have so expressed themselves.

As everyone knows, this district is very close if not normally republican. I can say with pardonable pride that I believe I could be of some assistance to the democratic nominees of both counties in the general election in November, in the event of my nomination. Four years ago when I was your nominee, I carried Hopkins county in the November election by over 1100 majority, being the largest majority ever given a candidate for office in her history, and I received more votes than any other nominee ever received for state senator in this district.

I have been a member of the democratic executive committee of Hopkins county for many years, having served longer in that capacity perhaps than any one in the county, have always given freely of my time and means for the success of the democratic party and her nominees. If re-elected to this honorable and responsible trust, I pledge my honest and earnest service and devotion to the people's interest in all matters of legislation.

I shall make a vigilant and clean canvass, and will be grateful for the votes and influence of all good democrats throughout the district, and if nominated, will do all in my power for the entire democratic ticket for both counties in November.

Very respectfully,

R. M. SALMON.

License Films FOR THE IDLE HOUR

There has been quite a number of requests for the Idle Hour to use Licensed films. I. E. Biograph, Vitagraph, Lubin, Edison, Essauy, Kalem, Selig Cines, C. G. P. C., and Melies films. We will begin Monday, Aug. 4, and use this high class thirty day stuff. While it costs us a good deal more, we feel like the people of Earlington were entitled to the best there is going and we are determined to give it to them. We wish to thank our friends for their patronage and again make the statement that the Idle Hour is the coolest place and cleanest place in town. Come every night and spend a pleasant hour at the Idle Hour.

Madisonville Notes

Visitors from all parts of the county are in the city this week attending the Fair. The Fair Hop last night was the event of the year. A large crowd of the society people from over the western part of the State was in attendance and every thing was a par excellent.

Chief of Police, John Ashby, is determined that no bootleggers shall stay in town. He is always on the alert and there is not any that get by him. The city is to better shape this year than ever before in this respect.

After tomorrow the farmer can come to the city without being bothered with the gentleman with his card and asking him to vote for him. With one or two exceptions the race has been clean and very few personal remarks have been made.

Mrs. E. J. Ashby and daughter, Miss Mary, left Wednesday for a visit to Winona Lake, Ind., where they will attend the Chautauqua for a few days.

O. C. Givins, Editor of the Dixon Journal was in the city Wednesday taking in the great Hopkins County Fair. He will leave here for Dixon where he goes to take charge of the Journal. Mr. Givins is the youngest editor in the state and is a "Chip off the old Block" and his many friends wish him success in his new undertaking.

"Dug" Rockman, of Providence, was in the city Wednesday attending the fair.

A large number of Providence citizens have been in the city all week in attendance to the fair. The fair opens in that city next week with the prospects for the best they have had in years.

Some of the boys that thought the "Wolfe" had the Derby won are (Sadder, but wiser now.)

A number of sports from Henderson are in the city this week attending the fair.

AMATEUR MADE EXPERT

How Inexperienced Student Crippled Railroad Serving Millions of People

New York—Refusal of a railway commission to sanction the proposed issue of several millions of bonds for a road whose transportation requirements stood much in need of the funds, was supported by the official statement that the commission's expert had advised against it and therefore it was refused. The railway authorities were interested enough to look into the record of the expert, on whose recommendation the issue was turned down. He proved to be a student who had studied transportation at a Western university and served six months in an under-clerkship of a railway commission. He it was who as bond and stock expert of the commission determined the financial policy of a line serving several millions of people and investment amounting to a couple hundred millions of dollars. ### More Caution Needed.

An exchange tells the story of a little boy whose mother decided that he was old enough to do without her sitting by him when he was put to bed until he fell asleep. So when one night she kissed the five-year-old and told him he was a big boy and brave enough to go to sleep without his mamma and in the dark, too, he pondered the situation a moment and then said: "Well, wait a minute. I've got to say my prayers again careful!"

The Issue In A Nut Shell

There is one thing every voter in the primary, Saturday, should first determine.

And that is, do you feel that you want to be on the side of the great moral forces of the county, or do you want to help the other side, either intentionally or by having your vote fail to count?

The race for County Judge is between Will T. Mills and R. B. Bradley. The forces desiring Bradley's nomination will center their votes where they will count—on Bradley.

The same forces are trying in every way possible to keep as many voters opposed to Bradley from centering where their votes will count. They are trying to divert as many votes as possible to other candidates in the hope that by dividing the great moral forces, Bradley may slip in again.

This is the only chance to nominate Bradley.

The only chance to beat Bradley is to vote for Mills. Every vote for Mills counts against Bradley.

Every vote for any other candidate, however excellent gentlemen they may be, is just a half vote for Bradley, whether so intended or not.

It is conceded that Mills will carry Madisonville and Earlington over any one man, and over Bradley too, and Mills is running strong in every precinct. His strength in Madisonville and Earlington and his general strength in every precinct in the county, many of which he will carry, makes him the ONLY logical man to center on.

No other candidate against Bradley has a general strength in all the precincts and no great strength in the big precincts of Madisonville and Earlington. Their strength is more or less confined to their immediate locality with merely a scattering strength at some other places.

A VOTE FOR MILLS COUNTS.

PUT YOUR VOTE WHERE IT WILL COUNT.

One Who Has "The Cause At Heart"

New Subways and the Panama Canal

New York—Next to the construction of the Panama Canal, the new subways to be built in New York constitutes the largest contract ever made. It is interesting, in this connection, to note that in many instances the same men are or have been concerned in the work of both projects. Theodore P. Shonts was the first chairman of the Panama Canal Commission and was the first one to undertake the direction of digging the big ditch. Associated with Mr. Shonts were W. L. Pepperman and D. W. Ross in executive capacities and Richard Reid Rogers as legal advisor.

Now Mr. Shonts is president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., Mr. Pepperman is his executive assistant, and D. W. Ross is a vice-president of the company, while Mr. Rogers holds the position of general counsel. Also, John F. Stevens, one of the former engineers in charge of the canal work, is the head of a construction company which is building the sections of the new subways in the Bronx.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

"Method In Madness."

"Why do you always insist on talking about the weather to your barber?" "You wouldn't have me talk about anything so exciting as politics to a man who is handling a razor, would you?"

Many as One.

The value of one person's mind or one person's work is steadily diminishing; it is the associate mind, the many hearts beating as one, that move the world; and this is so well understood by women that they are rapidly learning what can be accomplished in economic, social and intellectual life by the power of an educated public opinion.

Why Snow Is Warm.

Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it.

Domestic Economist.

An excellent Manchester lady frequently invites her friends to tea, but she does not furnish her table lavishly. When her guests have eaten all the bread and butter and cookies, and realize that the meal is over, she looks brightly at the empty dishes. "Well, now," she says, in triumphant tones, "haven't I judged your appetites exactly?"—Manchester Guardian.

Washed Example.

An old lady, leaving church after a service which had been attended by a crowded congregation, was heard to say: "If everybody else would only do as I do, and stay quietly in their seats till every one else has gone out, there would not be such a crush at the doors!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Some Good May Be Done.

I told something to a friend once, and he replied, "Gee do you want a fellow to be perfect?" I said, "Yes, but I never expect to see one, but there's lots of rottenness which can be cut out of the efforts of all of us."—Exchange.

Shaving a Monkey.

A coxcomb once said to a barber, "Did you ever shave a monkey?" "Why, no, sir," replied the barber, "but if you will please to sit down, I will try."
